Rahul chunduru : Dear Rishabh..(keeping the 'h' with conscious effort), we have been through a lot. But it never took much to make you laugh. Ur love for CR7 and animated movies was feverish, annoyingly so. It's not just now that you have better dance moves and crossy skills (^w^), you have been a sort of inspiration, really, from the start. Concise and systematic. Always had something to be learned. A bit too conscious abt debts though. Finally, a great friend and I wish we had watched more freshie intro videos and tested our baddy skills. All the best in ur future endeavours!! I am not sorry if it became too senti, I can't help that with you (^_^)'. Will definitely send the suits pic.

Aryan Aryan : Rishabh boi! Agle baar holi me dikha to pakka rang lagayenge 😊 ! Insti ka sabse shaant and seedha banda hai tu. Thankfully recently thoda socialise hona start kiya tune😊. Ek sem aur rhta to mast trained ho jaata. And ghar jaaya karo😊, hame bhi bulaya karo😊😊. Agle baar milne pe San Andreas khelenge!!😊😊 Cheers bro! Let's keep in touch!!

Abhro Bhuniya : Bhai tumne jitna help kiya hai meri woh kabhi nhi bhul sakta. Always looked for you as my little brother, one who hasnt seen the world yet xd. Just kidding. Really wished we could continue our chapter and study together but it seems that will not happen. Wil miss you a lot, aur touch me rehna. Mai notic karra hu saare conversations maine chaalu kiya hai. -_-

Neelesh Verma : I am learning to increase my "sweg", you are my inspiration in that department. I am missing my teddy a lot, don't know how he will be coping up with the situation alone in that room. We didn't use to discuss much about academics but you were always available whenever I needed your help. A big big thanks for that. I am still waiting for you to come to Kanpur, to see and admire it's beauty :P, I have invited you so many times, you never came though. Try something other than animated movies :D. See you soon in Kanpur..

Mrunmayi Mungekar : Heyzzz Rishabh! A semi-co intern! And the one who introduced us to eating out - knowing every food outlet in Baltimore :P If not for you, we would have sat there indefinitely multiplying by 70 :P You are probably the most insightful person I have ever met. Quiet mostly, but when you join in the conversation you sure are lively! And a great fellow writer as well though I might have missed on some works of yours for which I am sorry :(And always up for Ludo and you always play to win when we play to kill :P Here is to hoping that the impromptu friendships formed during a summer intern are to stay forever!

Kumar Saunack : Your naming of characters needs to improve a bit. Who names people Red, Orange, Yellow, Violet? And anyways, you'll run out of colours soon. You know what? You can become a hacker/rapper. A very niche field, I've heard.

Rajat Rathi : Rissabb Raj! I feel bad ki Bihari hoke bhi you got gifted playboy looks, which were totally wasted on someone with such an asexual personality (thoda yeh bhi explore karlo ;P). Crypto god (urf 'Hackerman') toh aap ho hi, Profs bhi aapki tareef karte nahi thakte :). That being said, who knew ki wing ka ye shaant baccha final year mein interact karne lagega. Maine tumse bada CR7 fanatic nahi dekha. Footy/Baddy khelna, fati shirt ko baandhna, dancing, creative writing - sab aata hai tumko :P. Thanks to you, mujhe bhi workout ka thoda motivation mil gaya. Thoda thoda jaanne lage the tumko, tab hi college khatam ho gaya xD. Anyway, nayi nayi cheeze try karte raho and continue to keep in touch <3

Sahil Saiyad : Thanks a lot for taking care of kittens when I was away bro.

Aayush Anurag : Hola, Mate, Hola. Dude, I just love your different accents, the way you recount incidences (JHU Shuttle Drivers) and your amusing voice when you are laughing/talking at the same time. You should stop obsessing over the length of shorts & probably get some (Remember H&M New York & R-City 🤔). You've got some superb literary skills (Woh Word Games mein kahan kahan se 11-12 letters ka word laate ho 🤔). Ludo mein kaat ne par hi toh mazaa hai (tmhare reaction se x2 ho jaata 😂). Bhai tmhara B'Day aur woh HoneyGrow Treat (especially Apple Pie 🥰) yaad rahega & yup mera khud ka treat pending hai. All the Best and I Hope our life keeps crossing in future.

Ashutosh Kumar : Ye yearbook ki photo yaad hai na kisne li 😊😊. Oh shit sorry, you are an English wala person. So see you always used to criticize me for taking bad photos & now are using one clicked by me. Sorry for a bad start but we always have been like this, right :P, Rishabh and Ashutosh without quarreling? Not possible. Sorry for all those fights but you really are a nice person and the best part was you always said what you felt. Glad to have met such an amazing person! Thank you for being sooo friendly to us, but still you'll be our mystery man, remember how we used to pester you for a night out at your place 😊 US would have been incomplete without you ♥. PS- Please start having eggs atleast

Aniket Bhatia : Yoooo!! It all started from NSO baddy... it was soo fun playing with you!! How painful was that dude who 'taught' us baddy, but it became fun because of you! Then taking you to that ridiculously expensive place to eat! That story of you having to order ice-tea at Starbucks will remain gold, and don't worry we'll have that Starbucks trip soon!! It was so fun to trying to convince you (successfully xD) to come to the gym (kabhi khud ka bhi towel leke ao :P). So much left to do, sem khatam hua toh kya, we'll still manage :). You're so genuine and kind <3!! Stay in touch (*virtual hug)

Yash Shah : Hola amigo! Thank you for going first. We started interacting frequently after you bagged an internship at JHU (and much more once you returned). I guess what fostered our friendship was your polite demeanor, and cordial+flexible nature; thank you for being someone I could comfortably have personal discussions with. Last year ke kaafi incidents/outings memorable rahenge (better not list them here :P). Apart from all this, I would remember you as someone who fooled ASC, a CSEC enthusiast, and ofc, a late-night walk buddy. I know we are going to be in touch for a long time. And yes, stop your knock-on-the-door-and-then-hide-away pranks already; they are silly and annoying.

Shubhankar Mihir Seth : Rishabh boss (sorry, not sorry), it was so much fun catching up with you in the mess and then the lovely time we had when Riya was in town. Genuinely sorry for disturbing you with my walking sounds XD. I'm just getting to know that this was such a defining characteristic. You were always smiling, sensitive to others, and excited about figuring out things, and it's a pity this semester was snatched away - I was just getting to know you better. But anyway, best of luck for everything ahead, and I hope we stay in touch!

Gurparkash Singh : Rishabh Sir aka Hacker Boi!! Earlier I used to think that you are a very studious and shareef person but as I got to know you better I realized how much fun, chill and laid-back person you are. Talking to you was always super fun, be it about GRE, MS Apps, placements or random bhakchodi. You are a very genuine and kind hearted person. Your writing skills are otherworldly and I seriously think you're very creative! You should release your writings to the public. :D Yes we'll keep meeting if it is MS instead of MS :P :P. Good Luck!

Ishan Tarunesh : Baba ko koti koti pranam ! Ab to school wali ladkiyon ka reply kardo. Kab tak Profs ke hi favorite bante rahoge. It's not my fault that you give me so much content to make jokes on. Kaafi late interact karna start kiya but it was fun dropping at your room staring at your to-do lists 🤪. Temple trip was nice (would have been nicer if those people sang better songs). I was amazed to find out your poetic side. Badminton nahi khel paaye iska dukh hai mujhe.
