If you get the chance to meet freshie self again, what is that one thing you will tell him or her?

You have insane potential. Be confident and focussed, and spend more time with people that matter.

Shreya Agarwal : Parshva...You were one of the sweetest seniors . I liked how you were always so modest about your achievements . You always ensured everyone felt welcomed and were always there to lend an ear . Would miss your BHAKT ideologies :P and occasional subtle savage humour :D

Soham Purohit : One of the best debaters I have come across, you always took great care to ensure juniors' issues were always resolved. Debsoc as a whole will be less fun and more left-oriented (don't leave pls) when you are not around. Extremely intelligent (kudos for coming up with Bro, C.O.), and favourite memory: Knifing the PM from our own team in Pro-Am when we got the motion completely wrong. Will miss you a lot.

Shubham Anand Jain : Hey, it was amazing to know you these past two years. We had a great time playing chess, and I hope the next time we meet we'll continue the "That's what she said" joke thread we started xD

Rishi Rathi : Hands down, one of the most intelligent and humble persons I know of. Right from one of the first practices in my freshie year, you have always been extremely encouraging and supportive. Your feedbacks, your hilarious melt downs at tournaments and those puns (good and bad) will be missed. Good luck!!

Adithya Iyer : Bro, the Debsoc wont be the same without you next year. Right wing ko represent karne ke liye kaun bachega debates me! I think i dont need to talk about how great a speaker you are, but I'm pretty sure i haven't seen anyone more humble (or under confident lol) as you in the debsoc (or the debate community). Here's to many more years of making memes and rooting for barca!

Jaymal A. Lodha : Really one of the most humble and intelligent people I've come across. Thanks for making debating tournaments such a fun experience for me and constantly entertaining us with your witty sense of humour. Your memes, your right wing ideology, debate depression- there are countless things that I'm gonna miss about you. It was fun debating at tournaments under your shadow knowing you'll be the one man who'll never let our soc down. Thanks for everything, really hope you stay in touch!

Vatsal Khetan : All those memories of CUPD, NLIU, NM (where we reached finals :p), SLS, SMC (we didn't team up, but still remember the cheese paratha at some hotel iyer took us to) and especially WUDC 2020, just break hote hote reh gaya tha yaar :(I am sorry for messing up r8, the most crucial one. ESL kar skte waise but thik hai. Bhot BT di tune har tournament ke har round me, ye round pakka har rahe hai, adj likh nahi raha tha hamare points, kitna rota hai bhai, chill mar thoda. But thik hai, Congrats again for IIMA, jaha bhi jana chill marna, don't take too much stress. Have fun in your life.

Aashay Biyani : You were always very humble, sweet and made everyone feel welcome in DebSoc. The combination of your humility, modesty and sense of humour is just very unique. And you were one of the very few teetotaler, pure veg people in DebSoc :p. Thanks for this always. Couldn't have stuck to debating otherwise.

Dhruv Jain : Hey parshva, since the acres tournament, it has been a pleasure to know you. You among the most humble and calm people I know, and it's been so much fun to play with you, as well as get your advice on everything. Your Never-say-die attitude (Often ending up with no pieces as a result of it), godly debating, and love for agadmator is a treat to watch! Thanks a lot
