Vikramaditya Patil : You have been with me from the orientation on day 1 till now. In all three rooms we went to, our primary goal was always to make it as cozy as possible to sleep all day long. We both set many alarms and snoozed all of them. Manasi can attest to this. I believe you know who I am, better than anyone in the institute. You are perfectly compatible for me as a roommate and a friend. Whenever we talk I don't even have to say much, you just know. I admire your absolute dedication to sports. I remember after an all nighter, you went and won silver in Devil's circuit in the morning. Unfortunately the penchant for regular exercise hasn't rubbed off on me. Let's find a reason to be roommates again.
