Khaire Abhishek Vinayak : I still remember we were suppose to be partners in GIS assignment and I got angry on you because you said something and decided not to do assignment with you 😊... After we were swimming in sea of misunderstandings, I even don't remember how many times we faught but sure I had most of fights in IIT with you 😊... The chocolate I brought for you 3-4 times became my food in the end... I will get you a chocolate for sure when we will meet next... Hope now even if we fight we will talk with eachother next moment 😊

Swagatika Priyambada : I liked the way you are straight forward, truthful, witty and you don't yearn for people's attention. In your sweet voice, you always said what you wanted to without hurting anyone else. You are happy in your own world, doing things at your own pace, achieving goals that you set out for yourself. I will miss our long talks, galleria stroll, online shopping discussions, chicken lollipop & fried rice, and totally spitting out every secret in the stomach. Also I will remember our room change story and sadly we could not enjoy the sunlight. I am happy that I met you, became your friend and this friendship is for a lifetime. I hope to see you soon!
