Always love u bhai, i know my late night works or study always disturbed ur sleep but u nvr complained me bout that (sorry, tried but couldn't change this behavior so used to go to study hall sometimes), tor pada bondo kor seriously :) .it was always fun watching movies with u, u always come up with movies exactly which i love to watch... there are so many things to write-from vishapur fort trip, marine drive, holi, gene vision etc etc all of which are unforgettable ... ya we fought sometimes but thats fair in friendship, abt for ft

Harsimran Kaur : Hey. You are one of the greatest guys I have met (after Shivam ofcourse). You are humble and calm. Though things went downhill from semester 1 for our friendship but its fine, Somethings are just not meant to be. But I would like to thank you for being a friend in Sem 1 when I was all awkward and excited like a child on sugar rush. I cannot forget when you came to do naagin dance with me on informal's and all the wonderful memories we made together in Sem1. Also, sorry for some of the fights during that time. Stay in touch, if possible. Bye.

Titash Baidya : Bro.....the first day when I met you, rather say you met me I felt you have a very pure mind, and a big heart. Really..... it's true. The word responsibility, I think was made for you because in my 2 years of IIT life I have seen you taking multiple responsibilities for the sake of happiness of other people. The lonawala trip is an evidence of that. You are humble yet very straightforward; talented, tenacious and honest towards anything in the world. And our friendship grew strong due to the overlapping of our thoughts...we share many things common like our interest in Martial arts, firearms, history, philosophy and many uncountable things. Somehow I felt that you are like an older brother

Abhishek Shaw : Datta tere saath aur v movie dekhna hai..Can I come to your house ?....miss kar raha hoon...humne sikkim ghumne ka jo plan banaya tha wo v nahi hua😞 let's go ladakh this time😁.... chal plan krte hai...ladkh nahi kahi aur v chal but chal ghumne....tere sathe ghumne ka alag hi maaze hai

Sagar Baulia : I will always remember ur by ur fartts that was the unexpected thing , u didn't even care that I was sitting next to u, but it's ok " har ek fraaand jaruri hota hai". We have long discussion and debate on differnt things which is wht I expected from u a strong minded guy with a good head over his shoulder. We have long fights over silliest issues ,some time we ended on the same page some time ,we don't... But ,again it's ok we are 2 strong minded person may not agree on one common issue ...I will promise u that I will try to increase to acceptance level, but promise me that u will continue pointing my mistakes , my wrongdoings , my worst habits ,my bad behaviour bcs I'm not perfect neither I

Ashish Kumar Choudhary : Datta..Coolest roommate ❤️. Those one and half year say a lot once you sit and recall about the memories we have had. You are the best coolest sweetest yaar..a good trip advisor..late night movies...random movie plans..Late night LC LT, tea 😊😊. One thing i always hate in u like you always say next time pkka khelunga i will play badminton, swimming chalenge and then after sudden moment nahi is baar nahi 😞😞. Always i admire your photography skills. we will meet soon and then we will go for a trip 😊

Sreyashi Mandal : Our story began way before IIT B. From strangers to friends to best friends to weird clingy couple to 'I wish I never have to see your face again' and then back to friends to best friends to soul mates - it's been one hell of a roller coaster ride! But am not going to talk about that. Here's what I figured out about you at IIT B: you are so damn picky about food, you get super cranky if you don't get enough sleep, you love chole bhature more than Delhites do, you love to plan tours (specially those that do not involve me), you prefer self study over group study, you are super organised and you store cigarette butts in empty perfume box. Thank you for being my mirror, my sword and my shield.

Rohan Kumar Parida : Ek esa ladka jisko naam se nhi surname se bulata hu me. A good researcher and very hard working guy. The travel advisor and trip planner of our batch. Jab v kabhi plan bane hamesha mujhe add kardena by default. An understanding and supportive friend. U have helped me whenever I needed really. I can never forget those movie nights and those movies which u hv suggested. I'll miss that always. Sem 1 me wo towel fight and sondesh wali fight hamesha hasata rahega mujhe😂😂. Ese hi aage badhne k sath life ko v enjoy kar hamesha and be happy always. 😊😊

Rumjhum Mukherjee : Aare Datta, ki likhbo bujhte parchi na. One of the very few genuine people I've met at IIT who's responsible enough to do whatever has been assigned to him, a hard-working enough to survive oh-my-god's lab, the almost everyday stereotypical conversations at H11 mess, will always remain as one of the few good memories! Don't ever lose your Bangali self and always be the helpful person that you are! May you always shine in whatever you do in life!

Soumili Sarkar : Datta da, no doubt you are the bestesttttt. You are too sweet to be true. At times I wonder, how come you are this calm and composed even at the toughest situations. There's so much to learn from you. Trekking with you, sharing same taste in music, sharing same views about life is what I will always cherish. I bet I have never come across any who is this grounded and modest. You are a gem,Dutta.Just one request, don't exclude us if you are planning to visit the mountains..we are precious..Lolzz XD. Sending truckloads of love and best wishes. You are the kind of positivity that every person aspires to imbibe. I'll miss you :(

Jeyapriya T J : I always felt a bro connection with you though we don't talk much. I like the way you advised me during first sem. Then, we grew apart due to some misunderstandings. I don't remember for what btw 😊 I liked the way you advise me during first sem, and you were helping us a lot in the lab. You're really hardworking. I really admire how you both managed in that lab. All those struggles, your humble nature will definitely help you get the success you wish. Stay connected 😊

Priya Kumar : Hey there smartass scientist! We didn't talk much, except for in mess and passing weird smiles while walking by. However, we still had a special bond - you were one of the few people I could trust, in front of whom I could be myself 😊 Thank you for being a supporting friend (to both of us 😊) you are so strong for bearing all of AB's torture - and yet you say that he is a nice person! You are very impressive in that way. You are a quick learner with clear concepts. You're brain will take you amazing places bro 🙌📚 Best wishes for your future. Sayan Roy : Datta, none of our plans ever came to any closure. Wish I had spend more time with you. I remember the last year, you were extremely busy with labs, although you never complained about it. That tells a lot. Will never forget our dinner table talks. Always a pleasure to talk to you. Hope we will be in touch.
