Shubham Anand Jain : Hey! It's been fun to know you through all these years (what's it been, 6 years now?) You've always been one step ahead of me in everything xD, but I'm quite glad because there's so much I've learnt from you because of that. I'm sure you're gonna continue to do things that amaze me, and I hope to continue to remain in touch with basically one of the smartest people I know :)

Dhruv Jain : Hey Shourya, thanks for all the inter iit memories. You are the sobo bullet demon that made all the inter iit days so much easier and enjoyable, be it as the freshie or the secy :) You're the overachiever who excels at everything, keep going <3

Kumar Saunack : It was fortunate that you finally got to attend the sports meet with the rest of us at least once. Apart from that, it was always fun to predict what kind of reaction you would have when you saw me in H2. I still don't get why you chose me as an ICPC teammate though(not that I'm complaining).

Amey Patil : Pandey Ji! My neighbor who never was in his room. Your endless passion for Maths and occasional flex for being the best, xD. The placement semester was the best man! I'll always remember those unnecessary random discussions ending into the realization of reality. We have done so much random stuff, acting like 5 years old all the time and all your mom jokes, that was gold! I believe that College life is not only about academics, accomplishments and good or bad memories, it's about how we get our personality and ideologies from those experiences which we are going to nurture for the rest of our lives! And I'll always be glad that our paths crossed in the most amazing time of my life!

Archiki Prasad : Pandey/ Pandii/ Princess, Idk why we ignored you in the first sem (Is that why you are into hibernating now?). Anyway, I remember the first MA-105 nightout we had. We were first 'food buddies' in the Goa trip and since then we rejoiced the countless trips to Aromas , Poetry, LPQ, Chilis, Laxmi, Appetite, Crafters, ..... (including France and Italy!). What I'll miss the most are your super-athletic tshirts and cravings for 'food, drinks and gossip (XOXO) '. I am glad that we were such good friends and I hope that it stays like that. Lastly, thanks for teaching me the difference between lol and lololol. You should definitely stay in touch more. Cheers to the memories, beers, prawns and LIITs!

Sahil Shah : Shourya! I don't know where to start - perhaps when you slept through our 152 presentation or playing chess (with insane handicaps) in H15 or when we were roommates during ITSP? What started out as a working relationship ended up as one of the closest friendships I ever had. The sheer depth and breadth of the conversations we have had in the wing, at Laxmi, Crafters and the canteen are insane! Your interest in maths is one of the things that inspired me to dive deep into CS, so never lose that passion. Recounting individual memories is simply impossible in 700 chars, so all I'll say is that I hope you continue to be part of every major turn of my life like you have been for the past 3 years!
