Shubham Anand : Yo manoj.. I will always remember how bad you were at cracking jokes man.. how you skipped every treat and every opportunity to socialize.. I do appreciate your transformation to pure maggu in first year to maggu+(little) fun in the last year. I hope you learnt from me to chill a bit once in a while lol. Always be the hardworking guy you are. All the best bro.

Kumar Saunack : You finally did manage to learn Hindi during your stay in college. But somehow, it feels more natural to talk to you in English. But I have to say, your jokes have decreased in quality. It was zero before, but now it's below that. Practice does makes perfect, but I sincerely hope that you don't go to -100. And please stop leaving groups randomly. Lastly, a bit of unsolicited suggestion from me to you: you do like to study and learn, so keep academia as an option, will you?

Naman Jain : Yo maggu, although we became friends (or rather friendly :P) quite late, it was great hanging out with you -- eating your food, disturbing hell out of you, locking you in your room, reminding you of BTP/TAship, inventing crazy cricket rules, scaring you in volleyball and it goes so much beyond. Stay the weird guy you are and keep in touch!

Aman Jain : I still feel weird talking to you in hindi. So I am going to write in English here as well. You really have maintained your terrible sense of humor throughout the insti life :D. Thank god we finally went to see the cricket match! Although you were never successful, you always did try to motivate me to work hard. Thank you for that? Nooo 😊

Lavish Lavish : Yo Manoj! Bhai aisa kya gunaah Kiya tha humne Jo Tu humare Saath treat pe Nahi aata tha. Jyada bakchodi to humne saath mein Nahi Kari lekin koi na ab jab reunion karenge wing tab karte hai bakchodi, kya MATLAB usme bhi Nahi aayega, lol. Manoj I wish you all the success and stay in touch. Viral wing jindabaad ♡♡

Ritesh Goenka : It was nice to be your neighbour during the last four years. I might have failed some labs had you not helped me with it. Yeah, we missed the csk vs mi matches (although we shall still discuss the ones to come over phone). Treats le lena jab bhi milenge. About you, I think I can't say enough - selfless, treat pe na aane waala, diligent, sabko khana khilane waala, intelligent, khud ke saath dusro ka bhi TA work karne wala, akele hi team project complete kar dene wala, and the list goes on. Let's eat our favourite sub and play TT the next time we meet. Until then, just keep doing what you do! P.S. I won't stop doing stupid things; that comes with the package, remember. /e

Sunchu Rohit : Manoj! The one who studies the most and yet you keep calling me a maggu. You've helped me a lot in various assignments, exams man. And the quality of your jokes, does it need an introduction :p ? I broke your TT bat, lost your laundry bag (ig with brand new clothes in it). Forgive me for that! One question, why do you book tickets (be it for movies or flights) when you finally end up missing them lol. Instead you can give treats, no ? All the best man!
