Jaydeep Lohia : Finally you're here! To a man who has found his ways of life in the freedom, one who has always strived to make the best out of his existence in the moment, one who truly understands the meaning of friendship which is not merely clinging, but the everlasting memories. Oh Mitthi, how can I ever forget the precious memories we made together? Goa, juhu, sunny, vikas ka room, 280, routine ki bakchodi, oh man, there is no end! Can't express how thankful I'm to Bhoopesh, that I met a beautiful soul here in Mumbai, that I will always remember as one of a kind, a caring, shy brother. Always stay connected. 😊

Anurag Dwivedi : Hey bro bro bro....Mithi....my best roomie ever....We have shared a lot of memories and secrets. Hey caring soul, I can remember that 4 am talk..we started around 12 discussing QM and then we go on to your and mine villages..Thank you so much for everything to everything. You always tried to do the things so that my schedule is least affected. I know you used to go to library in night so that I can sleep without lights ON. I like the way you live your life..full of enthusiasm..I will always be inspired by your reading habits...Even those pets like you..my brother..I am blessed to have such a mature and down to earth personality as my roomie...Love you bro...will miss you always..

Amrit Prittam Nayak : It was merely half an hour conversation and I was ready to share the room with you. It didn't turn out though but I was always found in C-280. The Goa trip will be an unforgettable memory. The sudden daru plans, the other stuff and each and everything, you were super ready. Your down to earth nature owned my respect. You are one of the few people I will never forget. All the best for whatever future has preserved for you. Embrace all the possibilities. 🙏

Marnya Lomi : Dude!! I am gonna miss you too. Lately, I haven't been available and supportive in various ways . I'd like to apologize bro. But above all, the memories I had with you and vikas is what makes IITB experience precious. Listing down the events will go on but getting drunk , planning up random breaks and trip outside the campus were the best things bro. Keep it touch. Do visit me. Again , Gonna miss you and your " Abe,sale" 😊

Harishankkar GK : You were always intriguing to me..even in the thick of things, you seem to be calm and gentle..i wished i had known more about you..well the two things that you gave me will be cherished forever(one is 100 years of solitude- its beautiful, and the other-u know rt ;)) i regret not being up-to-date with you, otherwise i could have got some awesome adventure trips..all the best for your future!
