Aparna Singhal : Cute panda, teddy bear, cotton ball ye h aapke asli naam..Aap bhul toh nhi gyi na😄....We had very little interaction in initial 3 semesters but everytime I was mesmerized by your speaking skills and your punctuality...In 4th sem I got to know you..And I can say that my friend list has a new gem now💎..Those immunology ppts, bioinformatics projects and immuno exams were some good times...And that 2 hours time in ground was something I will always miss...I got to know real you..And my friend I am your best friend now..Don't forget to call me in your wedding😄...I love you scchi wala💕

Aprajita Shukla : My Cotton ball! ♥ Mukherjee, when I first met you, I was amazed with your confidence and honesty! The girl who would not tolerate any nuisance. Straightforward and honest! I loved that! And then I approached you, we started talking and eventually we became friends! And then I was fortunate enough to see your soft side! A girl with two extremes! She can kill you with her words and if you manage to get on her soft side, she will not let anything bad or negative come to you. She will give you her whole world, she is my cotton ball ♥ Mukherjee, you are one of a kind! And I'm so glad that we became best friends! You've done a lot for me, that can not be put into words. I love you, always! ♥

Neharika Sharma : Jhumrum, no matter which meal of the day it used to be we always ended up in the mess at the same time and on the same table. Although you are extremely talented there is one thing that you do better than anybody else: The mimicry😄😄 I really loved working with you during farewell😄 got to know what a perfectionist you were when it came to handling things and people 😄.

Maayla Siddiqi : Hey beautiful! you are the person who can never be forgotten, always ready to help, giving suggestions, advices. Tere sath mess me beth ke mess k khane ki buraii karna , and our first outing to karim's and Hiranadani gardens 🥰. Nostalgia hit me hard when i think of all those moments spent with you. And I will always be thankful to you during your support to my first breakup😭. Love you infinite gulabi gang member....💕💕

Lisha Awasthi : Meri pyaari Jhumrum....tujhe hr hak hai mujhe daatne ka, chidhane ka, mujhe pareshan karne ka, mujhse gussa hone ka for lifetime❤️best guide jo hr pros & cons saamne rakhti hai ... aur decision lene ka confidence deti hai😭 hamesha sach bolta hai itni fikar karti hai, ki phone cheen kr mummy papa ko call kr deti hai 😂... itni pyaari tu kaise ho sakti hai .. aur itna pyaar tu mujhse kaise kr sakti hai....meri shaadi k liye sabse zyada excited rhti hai😂😂😂😂....I love you motu❤️💕

Shalini Tyagi : Jhumjhum! First sem mae humari baatein have mostly been equal to ladaaiya.. aur mujhe lagta tha starting mae ki iss ladki ko mujhse kuch toh problem hai :D. And I did not really liked you in the beginning. But then, some combined studies happened with some(read a lot of) fun and now I am a fan of your management and people handling skills and your take-no-shit attitude! You speak your heart out and buraai bhi straight on face karti thi, which is a rarely found quality these days. A genuine person by heart and a childlike cute face that you make when in tension makes you even more cute ♥. Also, a great writer + speaker. PS: Sorry for constantly bugging you :D

Jeyapriya T J : Way before we met in IIT, we were chatting in Whatsapp about books. There comes first impression that continues till now. The most dedicated person♥ I've ever met. First time you went home from IIT, I felt your absence in mess. That's the time I got to know that I started making bond with you. You're down to earth person who has good talents which I recently got to know😭 You've never shown your negative side to me which made me like being with you. You're very practical person, and you know how to set priorities well. That quality I like in you the most💕

Harsimran Kaur : Jhumjhummmmm! I was legit scared of you at time. Tu boht daat deti h mjhe ;___; but I do realize that it's a caring side of yours. I still remember the time when you and Neharika were planning farewell and I also got involved (somehow). It was really fun and it's commendable the way you fulfill each duty of yours with maximum sincerity and passion. I will ofcourse miss you teasing me at the canteen table. It's one of the sweet and sour memory of you and I in IIT Bombay just like our friendship. You deserve some less stress in life xD :P stay happy and your straightforward self always.

Titash Baidya : Heartiest thanks for your comment. Actually any token of true appreciation remains throughout the life. And I am feeling that very well. You are one of the most smart, specific and tactical person I have ever met. You took the responsibility of class representative and did everything smoothly which I always respect. You are hardworking, intelligent and....well my dictionary is small. I have to find more words for that. My best wishes for you and your future life. Stay blessed.....

Ria Miglani : You are the best roommate and the bestest friend I could have asked for. The gossiping and late night discussions about everyone we knew, especially before exams, not cleaning our room for I don't even remember how long, missing ghar ka khana and then ordering pizza and butter chicken every other day, hyping each other always on how beautiful we looked after doing makeup, you telling me not to help people and me doing exactly the opposite :P, judging everyone and everything and always being there for each other. You will always be the best roommate ever and nobody I stay with, in future, would ever live up to you ♥
