Arpit Kedia : Ahsan! Every conversation that we've had, your charming smile disappeared not once. The first ever treat we got in insti was yours - Remember we went to the main gate to get pizza at midnight in that torrential downpour, in the middle of a blackout! I did not expect you to come see me in the hospital when I was admitted, and yet there were you, being your usual self, it was really a touching gesture. You are always kinder and more gracious than anybody around. I wish I could have had more courses, or trips, or anything together, but the time I have seen you, there's nobody in competition for being the nicest guy around. Keep in touch, and all the best!

Anurag Bhaskar : Brooooo! You are the most (not even kidding) positive thinking person I have ever met in my life! I am sure you will keep on thriving with whatever decisions you take in your life. From all the movie sessions to all the food trips, we have still a lot to discover. I am very glad to have you as my friend! Alles Gute für Ihre zukünftigen Bemühungen (Yes this was Google translated)

Deepak Yadav : Bahut sahi.....

Kartavya Singh : Bro....thanks (a lot) to Deepak...I got to know u in the 7th sem through Machine Design. Woh 1 mandatoy kaam karne waala banda who is in the group. Anyways bohot maze kiye he apan ne saath mein. From doing random shit just before the group presentations to trips to Bhandup and the whole night we spent building the "sewage cleaner xD". Bass aage bhi aise hi humble and down to earth rehna and GRE macha dena...

Vedarth Choksi : Yo Ahsan! I couldn't have asked for a better roomie! You were the first person I met in insti and took a photo with 😂. I am really sorry 🙏 for all those times I kept the light on while you were trying to sleep and not once have you complained! You're very kind-hearted and an overall optimistic person! I remember all those times you helped me in acads. Just keep smiling the way you do 😊 and all the best for future. And yeah stay in touch!

Rupesh Leburu : Dudee you're the guy that introduced me to stanley kubrick!! Need i say more? Idk but I'm gonna anyway. I used to think you're a very chill quiet, shy kinda guy but i oh how wrong i was. You're still very chill, but you're also the most interesting guy to have a conversation with. Wherever u go from here, I'm sure it'll be a better place by you being there. Thanks for traumatizing me with clockwork orange, i will forever be in your debt.

Amarjyoti Nayak : Kefaa Halukaa... Anamaa Khyar Sukhran... You were probably my best friend at IIT Bombay. In my life at IITB, I did not make a good number of close friends. But, you were always there for me. We watched Baby and Special 26 properly in your room, remember? And will always irritate you with the dialouges from the movie Baby. You are someone whom I always talked frankly. Thanks, Ahsan. Those 4 years saw you play the role of a crucial and vital friend in my life. I wish you the best life ahead.

Mahendra Singh : Bhai you cared about others more than yourself. I had never seen anyone with this much positivity before you. I will always remember that sandwich at campus hub and I asked how much should I give and you said an amount around millions . I know 'thanks' word doesn't matter for you but thanks for improving my English. We couldn't learn dance together but I hope we will do it together... Someday like professionalists. Kabhi biryani bnaye to jrur invite krna .

Mufaddal Bhanpurawala : YO Ahsan, You were the first friend I made after entering the institute. People say language is a barrier yet I've found it much easier to communicate with you than anyone else. You make it so natural for others to rely on you that it's really commendable. From scavenger hunt in the first year to Mohammad Ali Road, D Mart and that damned intern, it is always fun to hang out with you. Let's keep on wasting more time together.

Pattisapu Divya : How is it that you know a great deal about so many many things? I talk of Ukuleles and you advise some good songs. I talk of ecosystems and you've a video ready for it. Have you heard the songs of every artist there ever was? We've shared some terrible meals at Ford and several equally distressing courses. Thanks for always helping me. Keep sending good songs.

Unmesh Raskar : Ssup jolly guy! Your cute smile and laugh are intoxicating <3 We have done many courses together and I have closely seen how smart you are, I wish you were in elec with me. You saw all my vices and witnessed my downfall, yet you believed in me. Couldn't have asked for more from a friend. Infi chill maxx and ik you love trying exotic cuisines with Vaishakh. Both of you supported me in harsh times. Maybe that's a mallu thing LOL. Ik the road ahead for you seems hard, but i fully believe in you. You will get what you wanted, you have it all in you. I wish I had come to play Holi with you but corona scared me. You are too sweet. Keep smiling and all the best! stay in touch and do visit in Pune!

Ganesh Chelluboyina : Hey Ahsan! I will miss the calm and friendly man of few words in our wing. I remember our freshie year lectures, where we sat in the last rows of LA101 and you showed me interesting stuff and memes. I also tried to pick up some Malayalam from you but failed miserably 😂 The outing we made to Hiranandani with Vedarth and Anurag was fun times that I'll cherish. I find it remarkable how you bounced back after the cycle incident and went on to do so well. You will always survive hard times like a boss in the future too. Always diligent and systematic, I've lost count of all the assignments you've helped me with. All the best with everything ahead! 😊

Naveen Kumar Yalal : Ahsan bro! You are one of people I never spoke any other language than english(still I suck at it). That mallu accent of yours is incomparable dude! you are a very cool person, always laughing. I have never seen to have any other expression than laughing, even while having viva! Just wow to your attitude buddy. All the labs were very entertaining and thanks for every malayalam word you spoke to me, I just love the way the language sounds. Your recovery from the injury and the way you got back is inspiring bro! You are an amazing person.

Vinayak Gupta : Yo Ahsan! We had less interactions with the latter part being our greetings in hostel :p and conversations in mess but throughout those times i never saw u get frustrated or angry. You are a very calm, humble and cheerful person. All the best for you future

Aarcha Suresh : Haloooo This would probably be your least expected yearbook entry :) Thanks for all the time you insisted on paying for our cabs, movie tickets and caramel popcorn. I will always remember the day you took time to talk me out of my lows. Why do I have a feeling I'll run into more of your cousins In life :3

Pragadheesh Kumaran : Mayire!!! God I miss saying that to you 🤔 swearing so loud knowing no one else will understand was such happiness 😊 it was real fun knowing you. Hoping you'll succeed in your Starbucks mission 🔥🔥 don't forget me 😂
