Nishant Chaudhary : Sem-1 had its own great flavour. I think you expended the entire collection of netflix, they must give you some award for that. Your puja for my house warming is still due.. No one knows sanskrit+ telugu deadly combination like you.. And that bahubali background music you can recite in your own unique tone.. We can conduct marriages using that.. No one would make out. Great that you got to have homecooked meals from sem-2. I was worried about your health all through sem-1. Off course I would eat for two to give you company.. You are still welcome anyday. Stay in touch.. Thanks for holding cribs on my behalf 🤔.. Last communication assignment was epic 🤩

Naveen Kumar : Hi Satya bro...How are you? Don't call me sir 😊😊.. We are friends. We altogether enjoyed a lot in IITB If I talk about you then I find a very good friend, deeply motivated and hardworking fellow, a very good father and husband. I will always remember discussions with you on SA, Maths in Nishant's quarter and ground 😊 We will remember our gatherings specially birthday parties in our canteens. All the best dear. Hope we will meet again. Be in touch forever.

Sushant Chavan : Your calm nature and cool personality always had been part of my inspiration. Your honesty while doing projects (We have done one together, RPD, got full marks!!) also triggered my improvements. You had guided me whenever I need your help. I will keep asking you if anything needed further!! Your management of study along with taking care of family was surpsing for me. I am not that big person to praise you, but still I am sharing it. Sorry for it. Take care of your family and yours. Send my lovely wishes to your cute daughter. I will miss our discussions.

Abhijeet Chandra : Hi Sir.. a true genius... Fluent in tensors, calculus and sanskrit slokas at the same time... And you laugh your heart out and expressions as unique as you are... No doubt why aniket started making custom stickers memes using ur pics..
