Shubham Pallod : Hey bro! You should have been a philosopher owing to your colossal vocabulary and an obscure and muddled use of it. Even GRE people must have thought, bhai ab bass bhi kar de. Seriously though, it was awesome to know you as a person. The more I got to know about you, the more respect I had for you. I'll miss our midnight guitar jams in early days and inconclusive discussions on precarious political or philosophical topics. It was fun to talk about randomest topics which we both had little idea about, while you gulped triple manchurian rice in H1. I learned a lot of things from you. However, they're too boring to be written here. So thanks for everything and yeah, you're hilarious af.

Ruchika Pandey : Hello. You are one of the most disciplined, hardworking and productive human, I know. I admire you for that. I can recommend them on your LinkedIn profile too :P Itni mehnat kaise kar leta hai yaaaaaaar. I wish you get trucks of happiness and unlimited supply of chimken manchurian and fried rice. Insha Allah:* Also, picking your nose is fine, but picking other's is not. You are a grown-up working man now. Stop doing that XD And I might get irritated with you at times in future, but don't you dare stop irritating me. Stay weird:* PS: I'll miss our 4 am chit chats, spontaneous movie plans, getting drenched in rain, H1 ki chai and whaaaaaaaat not . I'll miss US, sayan.

Nilanjan Bose : Now, when I look back, I feel gobbling up the dinner with Sayan at 7:25 was something tremendously energising after a tiring days' work at lab..waiting for a musical evening someday with you..

Aritra Sen : Hi Sayan!! I remember you as a music lover bengali, good student and good BB 101 TA. All the best for your future endeavours. Aritra

Pradip Karmakar : i really miss the dining table discussion with u ... u are among those mtechs who were pretty chill like us- always entertaining , socially active and cooperative ... it was really nice talking to u every time ... i liked the way u were always being motivating specially during placement time .. this is truly inspiring ... wish , we could have spend more time in IITB always stay in touch and all the best for your future endeavors

Syed Shehbaz Ali : You taught me two numbers 20 and 14. You know what i mean(haha). Thanks for your swimming lesson. 12 ft me swim karneka aur swimathon ka sapna to adhura reh gaya. Wo pani tujhe U turn wala stunt marte hue dekh kar bohot maza aya. kuch bio bhi sikha hai tujhse jo mai yaad rakhunga. Tere gane ki recording aaj bhi mere paas hai. Keep singing. Mood Indigo me bohot machaya hamne. These memories will be relished for Long.

Bharti Arora : It is completely OKAY to pick someone else's nose :p I am a fan of your pathetic sense of humor. I am going to cherish our random night walks...weirdest discussions...aur Tansa ki Biryani :3. I found u so terribly irritating in the beginning that I am shocked how and when that irritation went away. Do you know how sexy shoulders you got? Your habit of observing people and picking up their qualities is worth picking up. Mr. Shamik Junior, I hope you will keep in touch. Let's cook someday together again. And not just finger chips. Tum logo ke guitar..singing jamming sessions were like that cool breeze in a stressful, competitive atmosphere. I still have so much to write; no space; good luck.

Naeema Manika : Shinroy, tu alag he piece he.I hv nvr met a person like u.Not introvert, neither extrovert.Thruout my IIT life u were there.Sad it has become 'were'. Humesha jo LD trip ka mazak udata hena, mene sahime sochatha leke aneka.Jo tera schedule hamesha fxd & occupied hotathana, I always admired it as well as hated u for that(reason being tu walks keliya na boltahe). I respect u a lot for your hardwork and sincerity & always being keen about knowing more about anythng & evrythng. &jabhi sad hoti thi u were there to pamper me, can't say the for u. As this Senti Space is short, i'll leave it incomplete. Baki ham nostalgic hoke baat karte time bahar ajaega.I am so grtful that we met. Love you loads<3

Soumili Sarkar : Don't judge my writing with almost no GRE words I bet you still couldn't get over Magoosh vocabs. Jokes apart, you are that positive energy which every researcher aspires to have. Trust me, unknowingly,you have been a wonderful support. Although I did make fun of your exaggerated appreciation,but I love how you bring out the best on people. Just a sweet NICEEEEE, can satiate a person's effort,might help him/her to sleep peacefully. Credit dena ek art hain,jisme aap maaheer hain.I remember the night where you played and I accompanied you with Rupam Islam's songs. Oh buoy, should be definitely counted as one of my sweetest memories. You are an epitome of generosity. I will always respect your Debanjan Mondal : Sayan Da, You are the most jolly and dynamic personality I came across in college. Singing Hasnuhana was my life long dream, which came true because of you. I cherish every bit of the rehearstill sals and the occasional counters after that. Stay happy as you have always been.

Rahul Pramjeet : Hello Mr. Roy. We met in bombay but most of the time we spent talking about Himachal. Life has been fun with you and m glad I got to meet you. Whether it was imagica or night of mood indigo, everything was memorable having you around. Not to mention our endless love for chicken and enlightening random talks. Will you seen you soon in post covid Mumbai. Wish you all the best and God bless you man!

Abhishek Datta : The only MTech guy from our batch I talked to and an alumnus of Shoolini University (one hell of a place). You are fab guitarist. You have a very calm personality which I respect, I guess most talented musicians are that calm. Wish we interacted more. All the best for future endeavors :)
