

“Row, Row, Row your boat gently down the sea ”

NAEEMA MANIKA

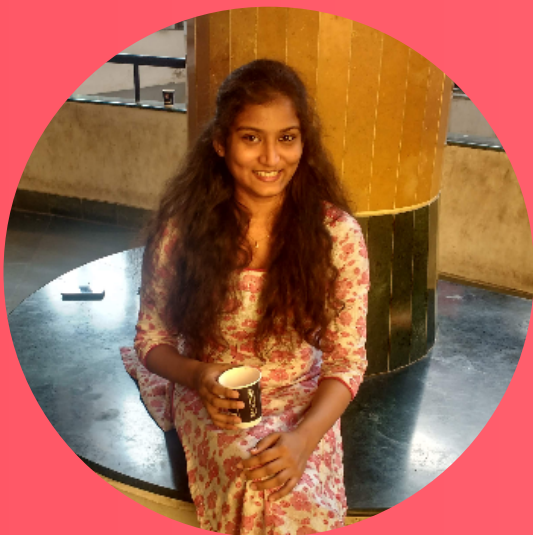

Biosciences and Bioengineering
SARC

Yearbook
2020

Shalini Tyagi : Meri overthinking ki dukaan! 8th Generation ka processor hai tere dimaak mae.. I will miss humari long hour talks, tere food discussions and wo potato biscuits. Tere haath ka khaana khaana, Lakshadweep jaana, and boht saare trips pending hai abhi. Mujhe darr lagta tha itni jaldi itni close friend ban gyi ye toh ab humari ladaai na ho jaaye 😂. I am so glad we never fought. And I think you are the only friend in insti jiske saath ek bhi baar ladaai nahi hui. Thank you for being itni pyaari and achi ♥.

Shubham Pallod : Hey Nemo, When are you taking us to Lakshadweep? It has been a wonderful time with you in insti. I have probably roamed in campus with you more than anyone else. Ruchi bhava, Aahar, Chea, H1 idk where all we ate just because you wanted to devour food at odd times. The time spent on OAT stairs, SAC ground passed so well that we didn't realize how evenings passed. You've been a strong woman and how you crushed Kokam thrown at you by life to make sarbat was amazing. I'll miss the campus walks the most. You were always ready for walks when other douchebags shamelessly dumped me. I'm grateful to have you as a friend. I wish we get few days more to explore Mumbai and try out new places to eat.

Sayan Roy : Nemo, I will forever remember you for your savage comments, being senti and fickle mindedness. You were one of my first friends on campus. I am glad you did not unfriend me after all the times I continuously annoyed you. You deserve all the good things in the world, just hold onto there and give the time some time. Hope we will never forget the incident where you felt "Religious problem" in H1 canteen XD. Among many things about you, you presented some of the most complicated theories while having conversations and made me wonder for hours. Lastly, your sudden plans were the reason I came out of my hostel room and had my best memories.

“Row, Row, Row your boat gently down the sea ”

NAEEMA MANIKA

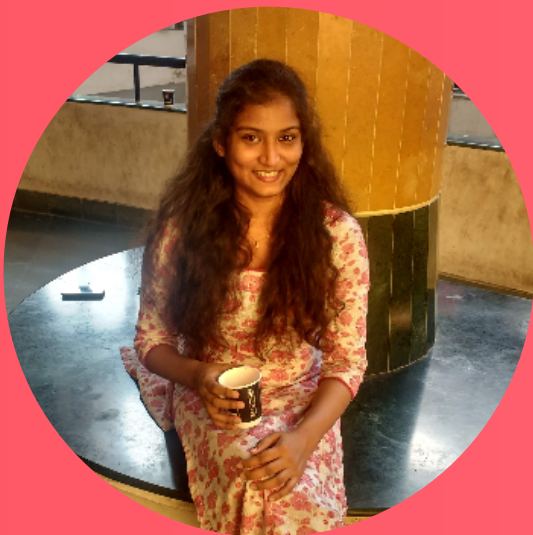

Biosciences and Bioengineering
SARC

Yearbook
2020

Ruchika Pandey : Naeemaaaaaa. You literally shook my walls and rattled my brain in these two years. From cooking together to adopting a cactus to giving each other head massages and eventually falling asleep, we have checked most of the points in the best roommates check list. Still, I know you'll never listen to me :p I am sorry for all the times i was mad at you, but i'll keep doing that because i want waffles aur tu sudharne vaali hai nahi. Please, andar se lock mat kiya kar room aur 'jitna teekha bana sakte ho utna teekha khana mat banvaya kar' XD. I LOVE YOU.

Krutika Talegaonkar : Hey Naeema!!! You were the first person from our batch whom I interacted with!!!.You are a very strong person I must say!!..Bus ek aadat nhi pasand teri, chuhe ke bil ke jaise room me ghusi rahti hai!! Bahar nikal thoda!! There are so many people out there including me who love you a lot more than you think!!!.Baki we have had a lot of fun together right from the last night exam preps to the visiting awesome mallu food places.You are the strongest person I have known in IITB and that quality of yours makes you special.I know you have a lot more to achieve in life.Just some patience and then everything would be alright!!!.Baki kruter is always there for you.Lots of love.

Athena Susan Sajan : Ek Bread toast... ek nahi do! My dream of you doing the butterfly over and under the waves of the Arabian sea still remains a dream... varunnodnu Lakshadweepil orunal. See how much time we have lost! Especially because you were sleeping for most of it. It was fun to have at least you to speak Malayalam to. Ruchika would say something gibberish and ask what we just said to each other. When you talked on the phone in Mahal , we would listen and try to decipher the click-tick-naku-tuk!! Awww..you brought a bag of corals and sea-what-nots for us to see. How romantic of you XD Thank you for all the love. <3 This one will stay <3

“Row, Row, Row your boat gently down the sea ”

NAEEMA MANIKA

Biosciences and Bioengineering
SARC

Yearbook
2020

Tamanna Meena : Hey neighbour, how are you? :P Writing here on your wall just to remind you that I admired you in every sense I have known you. I wonder if we could have been more close if we were from the same department. We never shared our numbers but a little chat (specially when you come to my room and ask me, tamanna how is this looking and by god I gave you honest reviews for everything :P), few walk to the lake side and talking over the dining table I enjoyed it. I know there is a much bigger and brighter future waiting for you. Always "Be YOU" and please bahan Lakshdweep ghuma de. :D Love Love

Gautam Sharma : Naeema, kahan se start karun? Golu, smiling face, and always "tuje pata hai kya, iske bare mein?" Hahahahah. Fantastic. Best Wishes. God bless you!!!

