Naman Goyal : Seriously couldn't ask for a better roomie in my life. Though you stayed in the room for less than 30% of the total time (that left the room to myself though :), you were great. Would miss your snacks from home after every trip back home and those songs which you played even at 6 in the morning. I can always take your side for anything for your innocent and sweet nature. We never fought, we shared food and walked together to lectures. These are never stories that I would never forget and pls stop using the faceplam emoji. You are so true to heart and I am sure you'll achieve a lot in your life. For the last time PRAGGU MAGGU

Akshay Bhamare : Yo Praggu!! Labs would have been so boring without you. Remember my photos you used to post in our lab groups 😂😂 It was fun hanging out with you! All the best for future endeavours. Stay in touch

Puneet Kaur : Yo PK2! We survived chemical lab together kaise toh 😊 you've always been cheerful and smiling whenever we meet. Stay the happy person you are 😊

Aayushi Baheti : "Mere paise vapas kar warna tera peeche nahi chodungi main!" Ask someone to decode this for you. All the fights, ragging, mocking, teasing, and everything will be missed so much! Love you dude <3 I wish we could have spent more time together, maza aata :P

Sharath Chandra Ale : Deyy There is something(actually a lot) in us that made us instantly good friends and. You made my insti life a lot cooler. You could guess how I would have turned out due to my fashion knowledge without you. I never thought you would do all the stuff we, adults do :* You were more a guy where I could rant, shout, take advice and even things. I pretty much know what all thing you have lol. Become an IAS and lead us (hopefully)

Aashish Prateek : Sup Maggu?

Siddhant Jadhav : Pragguuuuuu.. What an energy you brought to our wing! It was fun to have a chick magnet and a playboy like you in our wing, although you are a traitor of the wing because you weren't there most of the times 😊. You are the chilliest and funniest person in the your own way. It was amazing how our random discussions turned down clocks♥. I remember our struggle with dogs shitting in our wing everyday and making sounds outside sharath's room when he was doing his " bioX groundwork" inside. I still can't imagine we are not going to live in that hostel full of animals anymore. Our last wing outing is still pending 🙄. Hope to see you soon

Sudarsanan Rajasekaran : Hi machan! You were always cheerful and fun loving. Really enjoyed your jokes and witty remarks. It was great knowing you. From the NSS days to having chats in the mess in the final year, it was really a nice journey. Always stay cheerful. All the best da...

Naveen Kumar Yalal : You will never get it. PERIOD. Hope you get bald soon. Don't die a virgin. I will never stop hating you ra!

Ayush Ankit Singh : Praggu!!! I don't think my life in insti would have been as much fun as it was with you. Damn we have lot in common. From anime to sports to academics and yes our perspective toward rajasthani 🤪. All those anime and football debate were ♥. Staying in room is not your game, you always does what you want and try new things. It was fun experience new restaurants and exotic dishes. I wish we could have some more of that. I will forever torment you for being an Arsenal fan. I can never enjoy life the way you do. You are the person who lives his life to the fullest. Cheerful and happy. I will never forget that drunk call during placement time. Never ever change bro.

Ahsan Aslam : Mayire!...this would be enough but just wanted to say I would still call you the same after you become an IAS officer.Just imagining you,talking to the media with that voice of yours makes me burst out with laughs.You always have.

Aarcha Suresh : Hey man, thanks for taking me to your secret chai place :p Though the bubblegum flavoured sutta was meh, it was a fun morning :))
