Aditya Tapase : Hello Pawan! I guess it was the party at Trap where we became good friends. You were one of the most silent guys among us, but one of the most cleverest. The Analog master from our batch. Always enjoyed our discussions. I was glad that you joined us last year for all the games we played. You need to improve your Mafia skills though 😊. I was really hoping to learn Tennis from you guys. Unfortunately didn't get the chance due to this pandemic. I am happy for your recent achievements. Keep up your good work and research. All the best! We will always be in touch.

Lakshya Bandhu : Hey Pawan, You are one of the most sophisticated and sincere guys I met in the institute. I really admire your dedication towards academics and will always be grateful for the fundas you gave for several micro courses. Bhai all the best for your PHD, I am sure you will excel in it. Aur bada admi ban jaye toh hume yaad jaroor rakhna 😊

Mookund Sureka : Yo Pawan, We interacted kafi late but yes It was great interacting with you. Our mutual love for tennis will make me spam your inbox some time or other. Hopefully Federer wins soon :p. Our conversations outside lab were interesting and all the best for your American Chapter!!

Satyam Mohla : Being one of the guys who ran away from Analog as fast as I could, pardon my french but, @&#^$#*# you are one kickass dude, who went against the course of the river, for passion, for your interest! kudos to your phd, all the effort paying off. I have known you since sophie year as another BC guy (Branch change , not !@(#U($Y(%) and you are one shy guy, but i am glad (more than bgf when you moved to micro) that after all these years, we can talk :p. haha jk. Stay well in touch man...

Rohan Pathak : Pawan yaaaar kitna acha aadmi hai tu 😊 Itna acha resonate hota apna. And I am very very much thankful to you for playing Tennis with me. Kitna hugta tha and tab bhi tu taarif hi kiye jaata tha haha Your listening skills _/_ Kitna acha and bhola hai tu. I hope tu mujhe bhule na and fir aise hi mast khelte ghumte rhe apun :) P. S. Aise hi pareshaan karte rahunga tujhe mai :p

Nimit Himanshu Kapadia : Yo Pawan, I would have never thought to meet such an unconventional Delhi guy who's so friendly and humble. Yes, we have had a really bad history of working together in course projects (IP, DSP, EDL, Controls) but yahi cheeze to hamesha yaad rahengi :P. Btw, I always had a soft spot for LFC way before you introduced it to me. On another note, shouldn't you be thankful to me for drifting you away from the Nolefam to the GOAT Fed fan family?! But jokes apart, we have shared an incredible 4 years together from doing acads together to playing tennis, football, gym, etc and doing random hours of bakchodi. Thanks for being there for me during Placements. Have a blast in usa and "STAY IN TOUCH".

Anand Naik : Pawan, I got to know you well bcz of CMOS Analog course. I still remember your help for the assignments and projects in that course and helping me understand the "MOSFET"! Always liked your calm and composed attitude and the way you handled acads and football very well. Best of luck for your PhD! Stay in touch
