

NIKHIL TUMMIDI

Computer Science & Engineering

Gurparkash Singh : T-Boi!!! During the freshie year, I just used to come to your room for getting my doubts cleared. In the next year, that changed to us being teammates for various course projects and that is when I really got to know you, and I'm glad that I did. I can't imagine how can one be so caring, helpful, and stoical in life. Dude, you even left a note for the newspaper guy when you left for home because of the COVID. We've spent numerous nights debugging projects and we've together come up with so many cool ideas and I'm going to miss all of that. Lastly, I'm sorry for all the times that I've frustrated you by taking power-naps while working on projects. I know you hated those. :P

Jovina Vaswani : Nikhil, You are one the most innocent person I have met in my life. I miss our freshie year meals. That was the only time we interacted but we still managed to become close. You are a very nice person, and we gotta catch up soon, so that we can talk about all that we have missed about each other.