Ruchika Pandey : 'tu phir neeche chala gaya' I want the 2050 you to know that 2020 Shubham was the the most handsome and gyaani Baba this world can ever have:D I am glad that i found you , otherwise who will make me a better person, listen to my never ending rants and click my "good" pictures? Thanks for making random plans that ended up in being the most cherished memories. Always remember that you are CoolShubh who is meant for great things. And, you have the power of doing end minute magic and turning any FR situation to an AA situation. Stay in touch, pleeease. You know how much my unstable mind needs your calmness. If I can be even 10% like you, i will be a way better human being. PS: I'll miss US

Sayan Roy : Bro, you are a truly genuine person. Your simplicity startled me. I am really glad that you slammed my mistakes hard at my face. I learned from you, how not to be accidentally rude while talking to someone. Also, I never would have known my mother country, India, this much if I hadn't met you. From SAC OAT to slabs of Marine Drive, from puzzling Statistics to obscure Imaging Physics, it was nice to know that someone was there for support. I wish we will present our "Random Aurat" performance someday for our grandkids maybe. Till the present day, I wonder how could you lose your keys every single day when we were in a hurry. If I go vegan someday, the root reason would be you.

Krutika Talegaonkar : Pranaam Mr Pallod!! Aapke baare me kya hi kahu. You were the first person I have known in IITB.The always cool,talented,intelligent guy everyone thinks of you.Only your friends know how mad and crazy you are...I remember the day I went with you and sayan to marines chaupati where my chappals got drenched in mud and then you brought them back!!! That's like the most crazy day I ever spent.Thanks for all the memories and Amrica jakar bhul mat jana hamare jaise garib logon ko...Phone karte rahna and chocolates bhejte rahna !! Baki You were and still would be the best guy I met in IITB.Chane ke jhaad par chadha diya thik hai !!! Tu hai us layak!!!
