Divya Rathna : Hey pranati, I really thought u were a south Indian when I first saw you. Even though u r not, I got a good friend and a companion for TAships, council meetings and even for bible studies. U have a good taste of fashion, and your saree draping skills are great and your knowledge about diet and nutrition is really appreciable. I miss those shopping days, dinners, watching movies together, ordering random things online, late night talks and preparations for TA tutorials. I hope to meet you again and to eat hyderabadi biryani with you. Keep in touch and enjoy your life in japan. God bless you.

Bharti Arora : Duniya bhar ki shopping..series dekhegi madam..cook bhi karegi... decorating your room with collages of people...TA ka kaam niptaa kar rakha hoga..attended all classes...upar se top bhi maregi..KAISE KAR LETII HO ITTA SAB EK SAATH? Thank you for opening my eyes back then..U scolded me for being careless with my studies and goals..it was shocking coming from you. Do you know u got a curvy yummy ass? But ab bhot motii ho gaii hai tu :p Tera transformation from "shorts, revealing clothes nahi pehnna" to "coming to BB101 exam invigilation in shorts" was fun :p I hope u will be less judgmental to new things in life in future XD. Thoda chill rehna siikh. Send me pictures of Sakura from Japan! :3

Krutika Talegaonkar : Hi Labmate and Sensors Group Mate too!!! My initial interaction with you was during the electronics lab when we were groupmates and both of us knew nothing.. I have shared an initially sweet then some what bitter then again sweet relationship with you..You are great when it comes to maturity and studies...We have had some great fun during the initial days in lab..You have taught me a lot of life lessons which I will never forget..You have cracked Sysmex and now you would be living the life of your dreams in Japan.. .Best of luck for your journey ahead and hope to meet you sometime sooner in Japan!!!

Gautam Sharma : Woh ladki jisne kabhi kuch bola hi nhi, bas "hasna hasna and hasna". Kya hai yeh Pranati!!! Above all, charming, hardworking and nice girl!!! Best wishes!! God bless you!!!

Survanshu Saxena : Hey beautiful! these 700 characters are too less to describe you. Starting from just Hi-Hello to being together was just magic. I am always amazed by your level of innocence and simplicity at this age ♥. Thanks for being my human grammarly (from mails to SOPs), also for cooking me great dishes with so dedication. Waiting for more in future. All those movies, webseries, ordering food every time, were awesome (Yaad aata rehta he poore time 🤪). You are the only one who really knows what i do. Thanks for teaching me time mgmt., fighting for loved ones, and many more. Best wishes to you. Milte to rhenge hi LOL 🤪. At last our fav. quote 🤪: With great powers comes great resp ♥.....
