Pushkar Saraf : Yoo Aadarsh. Aapko maine bataya kya ? Aap infi machate ho. Uss din rooftop pe kya maza aaya tha ...thank you so much for that. Also thank you uss coffee keliye aapki lab mai. Also abb thank you kitne baar hi bolu lekin thank you for helping me with my reports. Overleaf pe sab cheeze aapse shared hai hahaha XD! I hope aapse jyada jaldi kesha mila deti. I am sorry meri daaru ki treat reh gayi. Thank you for being an amazing senior!

Gaurav Chaudhari : Remember the time we sat by lake and discussed various things? I think that summarises all we have been through. From day one, we fought, be it for the fan speed, loudness of music (thankfully, not the type of music), and tubelight (the one that I accidentally destroyed with a bottle), but even after all the fighting, we thrived and we became the best roommates in the world. We don't talk usually. We just nod and know stuff, well most of the times. We have been through so many things in a very short span of time, but somehow we sailed through. Just keep this in mind that South Park is way better than Bojack. Anytime.

Kesha Tamakuwala : Hi Aadarsh, I still remember when you stole my gulab jamun in freshie year and how shocked I was when you drank a litre of black coffee right in front of me, I didn't think I would ever understand you, but I guess you grew on me. A lot of our insti journey has been entangled and I don't know how it would be otherwise. You the one person who I know will knock sense right into me if I go crazy. I am constantly inspired by the clarity you have about life and your determination. I am grateful for my suicide squad that made me do all the things I would never have done. Thank you for guiding me through courses, through people, through insti sometimes and through life always. I hope we stay like thi
