Patil Sourabh Sambhajirao : Hi Swati! The only female friend of mine in the insti with whom I can share any kind of non-veg jokes, memes and drinks!!! It was you, because of whom we used to make random plans, it might be some shopping, some places to eat, movies, late night conversations or walks. Thanks for that! One knows when he/she finds his/her spirit animal and I found one in you :p. And yes one of the best Satyavachan I have ever heard from you, "Its not about place, its about people!!!" (Using which you did convince me to go to shitty places/movies). All the best and we want party at the time of convo.

Irina Merin Baby : Swati... you are the most bubbly person I have known. Always caring and helpful. I love the way you talk... so open and so innocent... And I think there's an invisible bond between us... a telepathic bond... so I hope we' ll always be connected. Wish you all the happiness and success for you future dear... Love you lots #TheCheerfulQueen #MyCutestJunior #MyPlacementBuddy

Kurapati Hitesh : Mujhe nhin aata...Ohooo...BT..Mere se nhin hoti..To the frequent user of these words, you may not know success is always a step in front of you. All you need is to just see it. Many thanks to all your event reminders for placement, classes, meetings and what not, human event reminder LOL. My only bestie of opposite gender in our college, but I never feel it so :P. May the child in you be always live. Thoda chill karo life mein. From meeting only once or twice in your first year to meeting once or twice daily, our bonding exploded. The places we have been through, the food we ate (daal always),I miss 'The Chutki'. #AGSM #long_live #be_safe_in_gurgaon

M Arun Kumar : After meeting you, i got to know why rajasthan has pink city:). One thing i can never forget about you is the smile with your teeth wide open, which you give as a response to some of my many questions. before i met you i thought the word "aapko" is used in formal sense now i'm confused about how to use it. Too much working, too much tension, lose one and you will be the queen. Miss the only girl in the gang.

Still remember you waving at me after class everyday without fail, when i will be sitting bored in GG101 :). Wishing you all success ahead!!! Just reduce a tinge of stress you take for everything and then you are awesome!!!

Aishwarya Dhandore : Swatiii what do I say about you? You are such a genuine person anyone can meet! A wonderful friend, a non judgmental listener <3 I could come to you with any kind of stuff to share with and you were always so patient to listen and advice and comfort me everytime! Then and now both alike :p We have had so much fun in these little two years we got to spend with each other. Hope we stay as we are forever :* and I get to hear BT hori hain yaaar for lifetime!!! Will miss you Swat Cat <3 . Happiness and luck to you always.

Sona Jose : Swaatii Love you so much for being the best Hindi teacher, for our occasional shopping trips to H11 stationary shop😂, for converting TA duty practice sessions to language learning sessions, for our mess meetings where you try your best to make me eat full(though the attempt goes futile most of the times) 😊. I'm indeed proud to be your Malayalam teacher. I love the way you ask "sugamano" 😊 One day I'll also make you proud with my Hindi skills 😊 Wish you a very bright, fabulous future ahead. May all your dreams come true. I'm sure that you will reach great heights with your hardwork and dedication. Love you soo much.. Sambark mein rahana... Alvida .. Acha Phir milta hein 😊

Amit Lohan : Well Swatnet, If I were to write about all the great moments we spent on campus, It will make a huge corpus, You know when the real campus fun began, 1st sem, when you told us about the fella who later became the first list-wala-banda, you are a cofounder of all the lists, all the names we gave them :), all kinds of stalkers and chomus we discovered :). Anyways, No matter how many friends I have, No matter how much time I spend with them, Always remember that no one can replace you. You were, are and will always be irreplaceable. All the things we shared, from studies to knowledge, from cheatsheets to assignments, meals, joys and sorrows, nahi bhulunga mai, jab tak hai jaan, jab tak hai jaan Sabitha Susan Joseph : Swati, you are the most hardworking person I have met in IITB !! You were always more than just a roommate. I still remember those days when i would be sleeping and you would get me breakfast even without me asking for it :) Those little things did speak a lot of much you cared for me! you are indeed the best roomie one can ask for. Those pizza dates, F.R.I.E.N.D.S. reference for each and everything, sharing our happiness and pain and mostly you getting annoyed for the silliest of the things would be cherished for a lifetime :) And yeah what I admire the most in you is your subtle art of not giving a * :P PS : Love you. Stay blessed!

Anmol Gaur : Hi swati.. well we didn't talk much in H15 but I can say H11 gave me a sweet friend and now I wish we had talked earlier. You are indeed a sweet, genuine and very cool person. I remember how we used to think of ways to kill time when we were bored. Be it dancing, walking around, enjoying grooming sessions or going for shopping, I enjoyed them all. You know I wonder how our equation has grown from not talking to you to wishing that you come to bangalore and sharing same flat with you. You are that one good friend that I'll always want to stay in touch. Wish you a happy and successful life and try coming to Bangalore soon 🥰. Love you.

Pulkit Rajgadiya : The only girl in our huge Mtech TA batch of three 3 people :). She kept on grumbling for 2 years, "yaar assignments se BT aa rhi", "yaar padh padh kr BT aane lgi", "yaar kahi chlte h bhut BT aa rhi hai", BT..BT..BT, then finally BT during placements ;; But u might have realized values of these BTs the day u got placed..the truly deserving one!! you are the only person I know who is pure-veg and doesn't like paneer.. again, paneer kha kr BT aati h :). Our trip of bombay was still one of my best unplanned trip i remember. Your dance steps are insane :) remember H16 party!! Hopefully, you will no longer get BTs in ur life and we will get to do lot of parties with compulsorily DJs in future.
