Nilesh Sonune : Edwin broo ! You are one of the most humble and intellectual guys I have met in insti. I will never forget the late night struggles we had to complete those deep learning project reports and finding those destructive interference points in your room from that damn pipeline noise XD there is no doubt you will achieve great things in life ahead just don't forget that you own me one jaguar :P Stay in touch bro !!!

Atri Dutta : God I cant remember the last non-R rated conversation we had. You remain till date the only guy I had to kiss, hope you'll be the last? okay that came out weird. but still. From edwin do you have QIC notes to edwin, daaru hai kya, and everything in between. Love you, man, hope we keep meeting up.

Shanya Anand : Kuku? sounds like a bird. Jokes apart, dude you know it is really very cool to have a friend who is gym enthusiastic, intelligent, a friend who always watches your back, anti-Ibrahim XD (kidding), and ... short height :P perhaps. But high functioning...Thanks for helping me man whenever I was getting a panic attack XD.

Mrigank Ashesh : I know you have the balls, Karen. I have learned a lot from you and can't thank you enough for that. You and Ibrahim were indeed a sweet couple. It helped me joining the debates that too in conversant English. I am thankful you were there to support me during my internship. I can say a lot more but I am banking on the fact that we will stay connected.

Kenrick Pinto : Probably my first friend in insti. It's a pleasure knowing you man. I remember the first time when our parents introduced us to each other. Little did they know they were talking to satan himself. All those crazy discussions in first year, reddit memes, viru projects, it's been a fun couple of years. We have got to play Left 4 dead again. Also, keep the memes group active and hope we stay connected. Meet me in Bangalore asshole.

Atharva Jaipurkar : Edwin bro! It was great to have a fellow gym lover in the wing! I would have really loved to boil all those eggs with you on our boiler 😊, but alas! I wanna really thank you for taking me for wall climbing the last day, it was fun! And that rope climbing man, 'wolverine baby' 😂! Thanks for cheering me up during the lifting meet ♥ Hope that our gains never stop! - Your gym bro 🏋️

Lokananda Hari Vasabhaktula : My initial memories of you are hazy, I don't think we talked much in first year even though you lived the door next. Then somehow you introduced me to powerlifting, mallu food, arch&rice (or maybe I introduced the last one to you), and not to forget those incredible moments of us the last few months. You come up with good analogies in arguments and that's commendable. Somehow I take side against my own opinion just to argue with you. It's just fun, and also pyrrhic when I win them, which is very rare. I could have learnt a lot more from you had we had more time together. Sad it had to end this way. You got potential. Don't let you think less of yourself. I want to see you highly successful.

Allen Bose : I will always call you "thadiya" no matter how fit you are gonna be. 😊 I still remember that fat boy in first year who has now totally turned into a gym freak. Apart from your intelligence (I consider you as one of the most intelligent people I have ever met), I have whole lot of respect for your willpower dude.

Georgi Joseph Bobby : Well we don't have to , This isn't long enough 😊 My sweet nemesis 🤖

Saipriya Satyajit : Dude hands down, you're one of the smartest people I have met. Something about you feels real, and that makes me loosen up around you, and honestly, I am not that carefree around well, anyone. And as you repeatedly say you bring out the true evil in me 😂. Talking with you has always been something I enjoyed, even though we eventually end up roasting each other, nah wait, more like you end up roasting me, I only attempt unsuccessfully. This guy here is probably the first person who, when I try to roast him, teaches me how the roast could have been better 😂. I know you probably have counted 37 grammar mistakes by now, so I won't extend it much 😂, saving it for when we meet. Keep in touch ♥

Sukanya Kudva : Hi Uthuppan, I'll probably never get your name right. And if we meet another time I'll ask you yet again how it is pronounced. It was fun(?) to do labs with you. Well, we got through them anyway. You are smart, man. But, it has been hard to look through your "I dont know, dont you think so?" whenever I was looking for explanations. Only if I could read minds😂... Anyway, all the best to you!!:) If we do meet again in future, I hope we still remember each other and maybe have a small chat too?

Adane Sahil Ravindra : Legit the only peer I have been scared of. That feeling is mostly gone now but the important word is 'mostly' :) Hanging out with you is a lot of fun (big shoutout to drunk and high kuku). You are always interested in doing something new, and especially in a debate. I don't know if that is because you are enthusiastic or because you are just bored half the time, I suspect the latter ;) Debating with you is challenging & annoying but I like it. Needless to say, learned a lot from you. You are really smart. You have a lot of regard for people's feelings and opinions but you also go around dancing in people's faces in a debate so not so sure (cognitive dissonance? xD). Stay in touch, bitch.

Nirbhay Wadiwala : Oh dude im at loss of words for the innate coolness you have.. From ensuring Ibrahim does not have three wives at the same time to dancing and arguing(dude you have to teach me how to berate people like that) youre one in a million.. For real though is your dad really how you describe him to be?

Kartik Patekar : Hey Kuku, You are one of the smartest piece of shit I have ever met xD. Dude, it's a lot of fun being around you, from playing video-games to seeing you argue (read: shout) with others. I still hate you for reading my chats :P. You have got a lot of energy inside you, and your motivation (and sometimes lack of it) always surprise me! Thanks for all the delicious meat you brought from Kerala. Well, you are gonna do well in life with that superfast brain of yours, just do stay in touch!

Keshav Janyani : Edwin, you are one of the most interesting person I have met.. you are smart, intellectual, funny and what not.. I feel like you bring out the inner person (idk how else to phrase it) from all of us.. I hope our paths cross again in future...

Abhisek Sahu : Dear Kuku. You are the 'kuku'lest person in our batch and a big pain in everyone's behinds😂. I am glad that your room door was always open for me to walk in and pester y'all. I will always remember your eccentric ideas, nonchalant pragmatism and blunt honesty, you smartypants. You talked me into Rick and Morty and I realised you had been a Rick all these years! FYI, I didn't really mean 'Rick', but it rhymes 😊. It was great to have you around all these years man. For I had some of the funniest yet enlightening conversations with you. I am sure your intelligence is gonna take you places (if not anything else 😊). Take care and Keep in touch😊

Ananay Garg : Edwin bro, you are crazy in your own weird way and we all love that. The knowledge and the clarity you had towards shit was attractive and intimidating at the same time. You know you are one of a kind and you are going to make it big (even tho you are short af, ,but so am i but lets not talk about it). Stay awesome brother, cya in the future :)

Ibrahim S : Edaa, I don't know is there any week in insti we haven't debated, especially midnight 3'0 clock religious debate on midsem days in kadian's room... The sexy thing that i learned from you is finding out inconsistencies in the statement, attacking the argument with counter examples. Even though most of the time we had heated discussions still we gone for cycling in weekends, watching b99, eating meals you bring from home, you pushing my procrastinating lazy ass to do study for exams, project work, even to climb a wall we did it adithya. Also helping my language barrier, adjusting to my annoying alarm disturbing your sleep -:). Anyways, hope we might meet more often, starting with toast..
