Soham De : To start with, you are probably sorry undoubtedly the shadiest person in Lit Club or even entire Insti. But it has been wonderful two years where we found multiple common interests in quizzing, in biology, bitching about people (you hate everyone) and those talks during Wangikar Class and also the weird discussions in Right Thread. Wishing you a wonderful future namesake, sorry Hitler :p

Yash Samriya : Sir! Sir! One of the wittiest and knowledgeable people I have met! Your dedication to quality research is inspiring. Though we always had differences in a few matters, those never-ending ranting about our awesome department (:p), design project, POTUS, and a hell lot of other topics will be remembered! That Nazi mustache is amazing though! Stay in touch! :)

Samardeep Sarna : Though a friend since BB101 days, became one of my best buddies in the past 2 years. Discussions have run the gamut of possible topics. One of the most mature persons in insti for sure (and also the shadiest/ creepiest) The KFC outing was by far the most fun outing I have had in insti. Does soham make friends? Well Yes But Actually No! XD

Jovina Vaswani : Soham, it was great to know you. I have always been amazed by your burning curiosity and your willingness to learn and grow. You are a nice person, with a kind and pure heart. I hope you chase all your dreams, and stay the humble, and beautiful person you are. Love, Jovina
